* In compliance with international agreements, airline companies are only liable to a limited extent for luggage which has been checked in. Therefore it is urgently recommended that additional travel luggage insurance cover be taken out in order to avoid insufficient cover in the event of damage or loss.

* The transport of sports equipment has to be notified upon booking. Special baggage/equipment is not a part of the free baggage allowance and has to be paid extra. Moreover there is a risk that the transport will be refused due to limited cargo capacity of the aircraft. The carrier rejects all liability for the eventual refusal of import of the equipment by the local customs (mopeds, motorcycles and jet-skis are not transported).

* All special sports equipments must be packed in an adequate package. There is no liability in case of damage while using insufficient package.

* Extraordinary baggage such as buggies, wheelchairs, bicycles, sport equipments...etc meaning all items which are not carried in a suitcase of normal dimensions, are transported at the risk of the traveller. Those special equipments will only be carried in the baggage compartment.

* All other items such as canoes and wind surfboards can not be accepted due to capacity constraints.
